

List of requirements met.

1. The Home Page,
I decided to go with a one-page site the homepage is represented by have a clear hero section at the top of the page.
2. jQuery effect,
The hide/show is represented in the donation popup form.
3. Map,
The map is used to show the locations around the world of current projects. The user can hover over map location, and zoom for better views.
4. Image Gallery,
The gallery is represented in the gallery section of the webpage. I decided to go with a simple popup image gallery as I felt it was more astatically pleasing.
5. Data Visualization,
The data visualization is represented in the animated bar chart that shows the progress of several projects.
6. Video,
The video tag is in the gallery section of the webpage.
7. Canvas,
The canvas tag was used for the “Made by” text at the bottom of the webpage.

Description of site.

I decided to do my site on a fictional charity (Human Projects). The reason I chose this concept was in part do to the fact that I could easily find uses for each requirement. I also hope to one-day hope to volunteer for or work for a non-profit. The style of the site was intended to give a somber yet relaxing tone. This is why I chose purple and green for my dominant colors. The images and video have also been chosen for the same reason.
